The original Long report told of only two bullet wounds in Mrs. Mott's head, one in the forehead and one in the temple. The second autopsy showed a third, in the cheek.

Unofficially it is said that the coroner's report will have to be offered before some of the jurors are willing to act on Mrs. Mott's "eyewitness" story. However, Mr. Mott is known to be deliberate and thorough, and it may turn out the present delay is only to enable him to make absolutely sure on every point.

Mr. Mott worked on the case in Newark to-day, sending Lieut. Mason here. Both will continue the examination of witnesses here Monday in preparation for the Grand Jury hearing a week later.

PASSAGE OF BONUS IN NEW CONGRESS REGARDED AS SURE

probably will be called into special session shortly after March 4, 1923. The measure also will be introduced again in the present Congress, but it is extremely doubtful if it can be enacted during the few remaining months of the current session.

The American Legion, greatly encouraged by the increased majorities for the measure in both Houses and the favorable votes for the State bonus in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Montana and probably Oklahoma, is preparing to launch a new drive for the Federal bill.

Success of the bill when it comes up in the new Congress will depend entirely upon the Senate. The House has always voted overwhelmingly for the bonus and will continue to do so. Of the eighteen new members elected to the Senate fifteen are for the bill, the attitude of two is unknown and only one is against it.

American Legion headquarters here will issue a statement shortly predicting that the passage of the bonus in the new Congress is certain regardless of what position President Harding may take.

The poll, taken from the Congressional Record and the campaign pledges of the Senators-elect is as follows:

Old Senators for the bonus: Ashurst, Brandegee, Broussard, Bursum, Cameron, Canaway, Colt, Cummings, Curtis, Ekins, Fletcher, Gerry, Gooding, Hale, Harrell, Harris, Harrison, Hefflin, Johnson, Jones (N. M.), Jones (Wash.), Kendrick, Ladd, La Follette, Lenroot, Lodge, McCormick, McKellar, McLean, McNary, Nicholson, Norbeck, Odell, Norris, Overman, Pittman, Ransdell, Reed (Missouri), Robinson, Sheppard, Shortridge, Simmons, Smith (South Carolina), Spencer, Stanford, Stanley, Trammell, Walsh (Mass.), Walsh (Mont.), Willis, Capper, Watson (Ind.). Total, fifty-two.

New members for the bonus: Copeland, Dill, Edwards, Howell, Ralston, Fees, Brookhart, Neasey, Ferris, Stephens, Frazier, Shipstead, Mayfield, Wheeler and Bruce (pledged according to the American Legion). Total, 15. Total for bonus, 67.

Old members against the bonus: Hall, Borah, Reed (Pennsylvania), Dill, Dillingham, Edge, Ernst, Foran, Glavin, Keyes, King, Moen, Nelson, Newberry, Owen, Pepper, Phipps, Shields, Smoot, Sterling, Swenson, Underwood, Wadsworth, Warren, Wiley, McKinnin (paired in favor of sustaining President Harding's veto). Total, 22.

New member against the bonus: Greene (Vermont), who voted to sustain Harding's veto in the House. Total against the bonus, 27.

Position unknown—Bayer (Delaware) and George (Georgia), new Senators.

self up. The police say they could not prove anything on him and he was discharged.

Mrs. Stetson, a strikingly handsome brunette, tall and athletic, told an Evening World reporter of her experience.

"I was awakened by a noise in the room," she said, "and first I thought it was caused by the wind rattling the curtains. Then as it continued I thought there was a rat or a cat in the room. I switched on the light and saw a man crawling on his stomach from the drawing room into ours.

"He went through the window to the fire-escape which leads down into Astor Court," said Mr. Stetson. "I didn't attempt to follow him, but gave the alarm to the office. That was the quickest piece of detective work I have ever seen. Half an hour after my wife woke up they had the burglar back in the room for me to identify, which I did."

SALVADOR TO U. S. BY RAIL POSSIBLE SOON.

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Nov. 10.—Within a short time it will be possible to travel by rail from Salvador to the United States. Steel for a giant bridge over the Rio Dulce River in Guatemala and Mexico by rail has been ordered in the United States by the Guatemalan government. Ultimately this will be a link in the projected railway to connect North and South America.

GOVERNOR-ELECT SILENT ON CUTTING OFF TRANSIT BODY

To Follow Democratic Platform, Only Comment Smith Will Make.

HOME RULE FIRST PLAN

Believes State Interference Causes Bulk of Friction With City.

Gov.-elect Smith on leaving the city to-day for a rest over the week end refused to comment on published reports that he will in his first message to the Legislature recommend the abolition of the Transit Commission. He said he would follow the Democratic platform. There is a plank in the platform which would justify him in asking that the Transit Commission be wiped out and its powers be transferred to the Board of Estimate.

It is known that the Governor-elect believes that the bulk of the friction between the city and up-State is generated by the interference by the State in local transit matters, however much such interference may be legally justified; it is also known that he believes that if the Board of Estimate is given authority to transit matters it will have to abandon its policy of passing the buck and get down and do something to relieve congestion conditions.

One of his first acts will be to fill two places on the Port Authority, which has been under the constant fire of the Hyman Administration because the city is not represented on it.

It is assumed Mayor Hyman will get one of the places, and the other will go to either Comptroller Craig or Aldermanic President Hubert. Thus Smith, who must resign as a member of the Port Authority to become Governor, and former Borough President Lewis H. Brainerd, Republican, whose term expires next year, will be succeeded by two representatives of the local Government.

PLANS TO GIVE TWO PLACES TO CITY.

Smith hopes to put through a bill requiring that hereafter the city shall have two places on the Authority, the third to be an appointive representative of the other communities in the metropolitan district over whose riparian rights the body exercises control. If the Republicans retain their hold on the Assembly and prevent this, Smith will have circumvented them by putting the Authority into the hands of the Hyman Administration.

It is admitted the Port Authority has reached an impasse with the city. It cannot take any property in the city without consent of the local authorities. This is written into the Port Treaty with New Jersey. Consequently, it is argued, if the development is to be made the Hyman Administration must have a dominant voice on the commission.

AIMS TO WIPE OUT TRANSIT BOARD.

Smith's first message to the Legislature will recommend abolition of Gov. Miller's Transit Commission. He probably will suggest that every automatic power it possesses be transferred to the Board of Estimate, thus enabling the New York authorities to handle transit reorganization and extension unhampered by the State.

Smith will get support from Republican legislators representing up-State cities because he intends to strip the commission of all power to raise car fares, telephone tolls and rates for gas and electricity and permit local communities to negotiate the charges that are to be made with the companies themselves.

SIX MONTHS' SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Smith's legislative program probably will keep the next Legislature in session for six months. Democratic Senate Leader James J. Walker, who will become President pro tem of the Upper House, will father a good deal of the legislation required to redeem the Smith promises. Senator Bernard Downing of the lower east side will head the powerful Finance Committee.

In the distribution of other important Senate Committee Chairmanships Salvatore A. Cotillo of Harlem will head Judiciary; Nathan Strauss Jr. of the upper west side, Agriculture or Public Health; John J. Dunnigan of the Bronx, Housing; Benjamin Antin of the Bronx, Labor and Industries; Michael E. Reburn of Washington Heights, Public Service, and William T. Byrne of Albany, Internal Affairs.

It is expected in half a dozen up-State districts where Republican Democrats in their places and Smith's party organizes the Lower House, Charles D. Donohue, present Democratic floor leader, will be made Speaker. John J. O'Connor, Assemblyman from Tarrytown, probably would be named floor spokesman.

HELPS CAPTURE TWO AFTER WILD BATTLE WITH RUM ROBBERS

Shot Parrot That Broke Up Pinochle Game

Law Suit Over Bird That Dropped Soggy Cracker on Player's Head.

The value of a parrot's services, either as companion or entertainer, will have to be settled in the near future by the Hoboken District Court. The services of one particular bird are estimated to be worth $500. That is the sum of damages claimed today by Carmine Tarnano of No. 220 Public Avenue, West Hoboken, in a suit against his next-door neighbor, Charles W. Wyckoff, who killed the bird with a shotgun.

The parrot, so tame that it was permitted to fly about the house and yard of Tarnano, broke up a pinochle game Wyckoff and some friends were having last September in the Wyckoff back yard. Polly flew into a tree over the card players and dropped a soggy cracker on Wyckoff's head.

It happened at such a critical point in the pinochle game that Wyckoff, enraged, ran to a shed nearby, got the gun and blew the parrot into a bunch of feathers.

HEIRESS TO GATES MILLIONS TO WED SON OF UNDERTAKER

He is the son of an undertaker and a small dealer. He is twenty-one. The wedding is arranged for next spring. Last April she was reported engaged to a young Chicago surgeon with an ambition to maintain a hospital for the poor. His name has never been made public. Another time she was reported engaged to C. Wilson Campbell of Los Angeles.

"Young Norris and Miss Angell were sweethearts ten years ago," say neighbors in St. Charles, Ill. That was when they attended grade school. The young miss was then a niece by marriage of John W. Gates, who was plucked in oil and ran a roadhouse and building a great fortune. He had an heir of his own who was betting the limit at the same time.

Then Mr. Gates died, after founding the Texas Company. His son Charles O. Gates died. In November, 1918, Mrs. Della Gates, who controlled the Gates fortune, died. Her will divided her $72,000,000 fortune equally between her brother, E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., and her niece, Della Angell, then sixteen, of the same place.

The girl is a daughter of a deceased sister of Mrs. Gates. When Mr. Baker dies his share of the estate will go to Miss Angell. Mr. Baker is now an old man.

Miss Angell's expenses from 1919 to 1921, for educating and "bringing out," totaled $179,372. When she reaches twenty-one she will receive the residue accumulation of her share of the estate since Mrs. Gates' death. At thirty-one she receives a quarter, at thirty-five a quarter and at forty years the remaining half. She has a beautiful home in Lake Forest and country homes in California and the Wisconsin woods.

Miss Angell has already received $200,000 of her inheritance, which was paid Dec. 23, 1921, when her guardian was discharged on her attaining her eighteenth birthday. In addition, she has received $100,000 left to her by her cousin, Charles W. Gates, son of John W. Gates.

RUM KIDNAPPER SLAIN IN CHASE; TWO MEN SEIZED

Hundred Police Take Part in Pistol Battle in Mile Pursuit.

GIRL AIDS CAPTURE.

Young Woman in Taxicab Follows Fleeing Gunman and Causes Arrest.

An attempt by three Jersey City bootleggers to steal $400 worth of alcohol by the expedient of kidnapping the man they bought it from with the idea of throwing him from an automobile at some remote point, led to a thrilling automobile chase through east side streets last night, a revolver battle in which scores of shots were fired, the killing of one of the bootleggers by a policeman, the arrest of another and the issuance of a general alarm for one Mike Burke, better known as "Mike the Bum," the leader in the kidnapping plot.

The man who was killed was called Andrew Michael by the bootlegger who was arrested. Michael was a Pole, as is the man under arrest, and the fugitive "Mike the Bum." The Jersey City bootleggers came over in a car last night to buy sixteen five-gallon cans of alcohol from Benjamin Faust of No. 84 Christie Street. Faust and two other men were waiting for them in a garage at No. 90 Bayard Street, where the alcohol was stored.

When the liquor had been loaded into the bootleggers' car, Faust demanded payment. The three visitors drew revolvers and compelled Faust and his two companions to get into the car. The curtains were drawn and fastened and the driver ran the car out of the garage to Canal and Elizabeth Streets.

Here one of the captives made a dash, broke through the curtains and landed in the street. Patrolman Eugene O'Connor ran up to him and gathered from his report that there had been a hold-up and the thieves were escaping in the car which was headed toward Lafayette Street.

O'Connor boarded the first passing machine, firing at the tires of the fugitive car as it turned around and dashed up Lafayette Street, thence to Fourth Avenue, to East Tenth Street and east to Third Avenue.

Dens of other automobiles joined the chase, including one or two police flivvers, and revolvers popped all along the line of Third Avenue, south to 10th Street, and again as it headed west. At least one of the men in the car was shooting back.

The flight continued for more than a mile until the fugitive car crashed East against an electric light pole in East 10th Street. O'Connor had used all his shots except one when he heard the crash. As he approached one of the kidnappers jumped out and ran along Third Avenue. To facilitate his flight he threw off his overcoat, then his coat. He soon realized his mistake for, in his shirt sleeves he was a conspicuous mark. He ran into a Chinese laundry and was trying to make the Chinese proprietor take off his coat when captured.

Traffic Policeman McNamara, on duty at 11th Street, caught the fugitive in the laundry. He had a fully loaded revolver. He said he was Alex Smith, twenty-eight, of Jersey City.

Meanwhile, O'Connor reached the stalled car. As he approached it a bullet ploughed through the windshield. O'Connor answered with his last bullet and got results. He tore away the curtains. Faust, the first to emerge, declared:

"I'm not one of the stick-up men." The only other occupant found in the car was Michael, who had been shot in the head. He died in Bellevue Hospital. Faust said the other one of the kidnappers fled when the crash ended the flight.

Smith, the police say, said the car was driven by a man known to him as Michael Burke, better known as "Mike the Bum," and that the car had been stolen in Cleveland a week ago. He said Burke also stole the license plate it bears in Massachusetts.

Policeman O'Connor was praised for his courage under fire, and a young woman in a taxicab, driven by Charles Melnick of No. 1388 Prospect Avenue, the Bronx, that followed one of the alleged kidnappers into the laundry, also did good work. She was returning home from a department store downtown when she saw the man running and told the chauffeur to follow him.

In the stolen automobile the police found an automatic pistol, and the dead man's pockets fifty cartridges wrapped in a handkerchief.

After the excitement was over the police estimated that at least 100 policemen in twenty commandeer taxicabs and private automobiles had been in the chase.

Smith, who real name is Smidakt, was arraigned in Centre Street Police Court this afternoon and held by Magistrate Oberwager without bail on a charge of robbery. Faust was held in $1,000 bail on a charge of violation of the Mulligan-Gage act.

RELEASES BRITISH SCHOONER SEIZED AS RUM RUNNER.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The British schooner Acadia, seized as a rum runner off Gloucester last August while outside the three-mile limit, was ordered released by the Treasury Department today. The order also covered the return of all cargo of liquor found on the ship. The Acadia, owned in Sydney, N. S. W., has sailed under bond, but the liquor has been held and five members of the crew have given bonds on charges of smuggling.

'Cissie' Loftus, Once Famed Star, Arrested for Possessing Drugs

Said to Be Ill From Narcotics, She Is Sent to Sanatorium.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Cissie Loftus, for more than twenty years a well-known actress on the stages of both Great Britain and the United States, was arraigned to-day in police court and charged with being an unauthorized person in possession of morphine and acetone. She appeared to be ill. Through her counsel she pleaded not guilty.

The Magistrate admitted the actress to bail and adjourned the case for a week. Her lawyer said she would spend the time in a nursing home.

London despatches telling of the arrest of Marie Cecile ("Cissie") Loftus for the alleged illegal possession of drugs, brought to the United States the first news in years of an actress who, in the first decade of the present century, starred in this country and England on both the legitimate and vaudeville stages.

Born in England, she showed at an early age an aptitude at mimicry. London audiences hailed her as a child prodigy for the imitations of Sarah Bernhardt, Yvette Guilbert and other celebrities of the period. American audiences were similarly delighted with her.

Finally she left vaudeville for drama, being notably successful as co-star with Sir Henry Irving in "Faust," "If I Were King" and "Peter Pan." But her clientele, in England as well as America, invariably demanded her return to the role in which she first excelled that of a mimic.

"Cissie" Loftus always has been a picturesque figure. She startled her followers on both continents when, during a vaudeville engagement in London, she eloped with Justin Huntly McCarthy, the English dramatist, from whom she was divorced, in America, some years later.

In 1909, she was married to Dr. A. H. Waterman of Chicago and announced her intention to abandon the stage.

G. O. P. Majority in Senate 10; In House 17, on Latest Returns

North Dakota Seat, Still Uncertain, May Change Total in Upper Branch of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.

On the face of practically complete but unofficial returns from Tuesday's elections the exact line-up by parties in the Sixty-Eighth Congress will be:

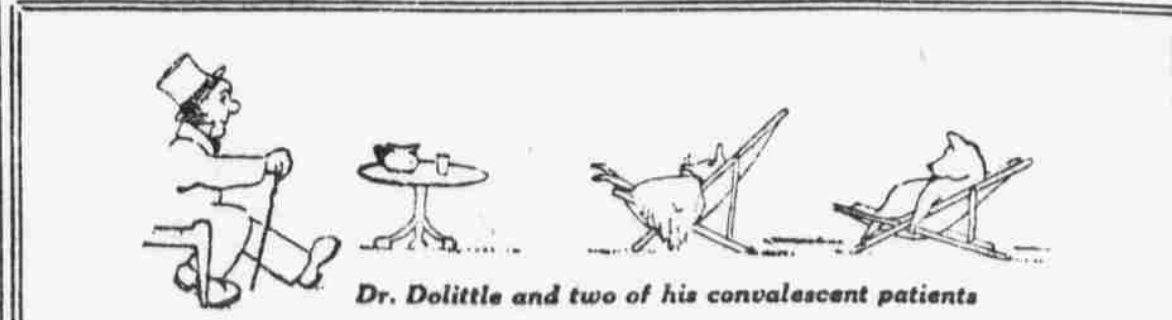

House—Republicans, 226; Democrats, 206; Socialist, 1; Independent, 1; Farmer-Labor, 1.

Senate—Republicans, 53; Democrats, 42; Farmer-Labor, 1.

The Republican total in the Senate is predicated upon a victory for that party in the Senatorial contest in North Dakota. Should final returns show the election of F. T. O'Connor, the Democratic candidate, the Republicans would have 52 and the Democrats 43. In the present Senate the Republicans have 60 members and the Democrats 36, a Republican majority of 24.

In the House the Republicans, on the basis of the unofficial returns, will have a majority of 17 over the combined strength which could be mustered against them by the Democrats and others, and a plurality of 20 over the Democrats as a party unit. In the present House the Republicans have a majority of 165 over all, and a plurality of 165 over the Democrats.

Representative Guy E. Campbell, of the 36th Pennsylvania District, who in the past two campaigns has run as a "Republican-Democrat," but who has been carried on the official House roll as a Democrat, requested the clerk to list him hereafter as a Republican.

CONGRESS CALLED TO MEET ON NOV. 20 IN SPECIAL SESSION

Ship Subsidy Believed to Be Real Cause of Action by Harding.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—By proclamation President Harding has issued his call for an extra session of Congress to meet at noon, Nov. 20, mainly for the purpose of taking up the Ship Subsidy Bill, although no reason for the call was given except that "public interests require" it.

The extra session, bitterly opposed by a good many Republican leaders, was expected and was according to schedule. Mr. Harding announced the day before election he intended to issue the call, but might change his mind. It was understood then the only thing that would change his mind would be the election of a sufficiently strong Republican Congress to give the Subsidy Bill favorable consideration.

With the Democratic victory so complete as to wrest control entirely from the old guard's hands, the President's last hope for the subsidy, long his favorite measure, rests on his ability to jam it through at this extra term before a hostile Congress comes into being.

The same consideration applies to all of the Administration program. Probably the appropriation bill will be dragged in at once, and a deal attempted to get them out of the way first before tackling the subsidy.

The present program calls for introduction of the Subsidy Bill in the House, where it must originate because of its appropriation features. On Nov. 22, under a special rule, House leaders expect to secure a vote by Nov. 29, in time to give the House membership a chance to enjoy a brief Thanksgiving holiday.

TWO IN SAME CELL SEND GUARD AWAY, THEN HANG SELVES

Prisoners at Headquarters Cut Down Unconscious—Nooses Made of Shirts.

On a subterfuge that they wanted water, and in the absence of the attendant, Pons Gonzales, twenty-three years old, an actor, of Mills Hotel No. 1, and Abraham Goodbridge, twenty-six years old, a laborer, of the same address, two prisoners held in one cell at Police Headquarters on charges of extortion, attempted suicide early this morning by hanging themselves.

When the attendant, James Barrett, returned the men were hanging unconscious from the iron-bar ceiling of the cell by ropes made of strips torn from their shirts and fastened over the bars by belts. Barrett cut the men down and notified Lieut.

Quinn, who summoned an ambulance from St. Vincent's Hospital. Dr. Toomey removed the men to Bellevue in a critical condition.

The men were looked up at Headquarters about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon after they had been arrested at 123d Street and Broadway by Detectives Morrison and Glaser of the 109th Street Station on charges of extorting $100 from George Schmidt of No. 801 West 21st Street. According to the police, Schmidt says the men extorted the money from him by representing themselves to be detectives. According to Barrett, the men acted in no way different from usual prisoners and he had no reason to be suspicious when they asked for a glass of water. The men had not been noticed talking together, he said.
